

A close-up photograph of a dense, dark green moss carpet. The texture is intricate and slightly uneven, with various shades of dark green and some darker, almost black, shadows between the moss tufts.

Donkergroen

A close-up photograph of a dense, forest green moss carpet. The color is a rich, vibrant green, and the texture is similar to the dark green moss but with more uniformity in color.

Woudgroen

A close-up photograph of a dense, medium green moss carpet. The color is a balanced, natural green, and the texture is consistent with the other moss samples.

Middengroen

A close-up photograph of a dense, spring green moss carpet. The color is a bright, lively green, and the texture is soft and dense.

Lentegroen

A close-up photograph of a natural, light-colored moss carpet. The color is a pale, off-white or light beige, and the texture is very soft and fibrous, resembling a natural moss mat.

Naturel

A close-up photograph of a dense, lime green moss carpet. The color is a very bright, almost neon green, and the texture is soft and dense.

Limoen groen